Original Tobacco-Thoughts.

Having reference from topping time until stripping time.

BY DIAMOND F. BENTLEY.

Now the green tobacco fields are in the flowery bloom.
And purple flowers cover the plants with her blooms.
Where the purple flowers sink beneath the dew's weight.
And the golden striped-tobacco-fly lays and never waits.
Where the golden sunlight rolls sparkling dew at night.
And the green-tinctured worm is still on the leaf.
Where the green tobacco-worm goes into the ground.
And soon a fly in the purple twilight all around.
Where the golden striped-fly slips limps on flowers so true.
Which is never a flower until falling rain or dew.
Where the golden striped-fly never lays in sunshine or dark.
When the purple twilight rolls her darkness they fly under bark.
Where the green tobacco-leaves are dipped with silver dew.
And the starry Heavens are hid from the skies of blue.
Where the evening-star raises golden star tobacco leaves at bay.
And the morning star brings golden sun to wilt that day.
Where the purple rainbow is pictured with silver drops.
And then green tobacco-worm loves to bite, and never stops.
Where the green tobacco leaves are dipped from the dew of the moonlight.
And the green leaves will from the untailed dews of starlight.
Where the golden sunlight sparkles betwixt tobacco-leaves.
And the white, and golden clouds flash as the wind blows.
Where the noontide sun quakes green tobacco-leaves low.
And the winds and clouds fan the laborer's brow.
Where the beaming sun colors green tobacco like gold.
And the green tobacco-worm stops biting so bold.
Where the golden leaf is in the barn the worm is not asleep.
When the purple Heaven blows her freezing breath, worms will weep.
Where tobacco-barns have rolled in her fiery flames at night.
Slipshod agents often thought it was a bite.
Where sound-headed agents have canceled the policy-right.
The golden leaves will never roll in the fiery flames at night.

Communicated.

HARP, KY., July 27, 1887.

Editor Roundabout:

In your issue of 23d inst. is a communication from Mr. John E. Miles, who announces himself to be quietly rusticiating near Jett Station. Whilst his brow is being fanned by the gentle vesper breezes and his pleasant retreat in the cool hall rendered him at ease with himself, a calm quietness overcomes him and allows him to draw in the wanderings of his busy mind. Thus pleasantly situated he indulges in a few reveries of the passing time. One would naturally suppose, from the surroundings described, that all bitter feeling and rancor would be suppressed and expressions of animosity be held in abeyance.

So fearful was Mr. M. that this kind, pleasant feeling, into which he had been ushered, would not be appreciated, he prefaces his letter with the remark, "I hope no one will take offense, for none is meant." We accept Mr. M.'s statement that no offense is meant and what he has said is but the reflections of a mind once distracted and confused over a rigid railroad flush of victory has passed and the smoke of the battle no longer obscures the horizon and the second sober thoughts have resumed their natural sway, quiet and calm with good will for all.

Accepting his own statement of good will and freedom from desire to offend, let us, in the same spirit, analyze and traverse his letter of the 23d.

Mr. M., in beginning his communication, failed to look one grand thought square in the face, namely: "There are two sides to every question, and each man has the right to think and reason upon the subject for himself." The whole tenor of his reasoning is a great big, straight I, and a little bit of a crooked u.

The questions as presented by Mr. M. were all discussed and intelligently discussed by and among the citizens of Benson, Bald Knob, Flat Creek and Peak's Mill, probably a good while before that worthy gentleman thought of them.

They have not sprung Minervally, from the mighty Jupiter's brain as he fain would have us believe.

And nothing would be said now in reply, were it not that he has allowed statements to creep into his letter that are not only discreditable to himself but casting a slur on a people as warm, generous and as highly cultured as himself or his peers, at which we cannot "take offense as none was meant." We will not review any of the arguments of the railroad question either pro or con. That is settled.

Not a man in the precincts named, and that have incurred the gentleman's displeasure under the guise "of no offense," but what realizes the importance of upholding his own interest by aiding his country by taxation or otherwise. That people, State, county or city, whose multiplied interests are unified for the promotion of the general welfare are the most prosperous and happy.

The prosperity of communities differ in relation to their topography. While the same intelligence and industry may characterize the one as does the other, surrounding circumstances vary the results.

This is particularly true of Franklin county. One portion of the county has a very fertile soil, comparatively level and is easily cultivated, while the other is hilly, soil thin, and very difficult to cultivate. Where would one expect to find the greatest accumulation of wealth, and consequently greater amount of revenue for county purposes? Yet Mr. M. seems to think it very grievous that Bald Knob only pays $1,500 per year into the public coffers and the rich districts so much more. Ah! the three precincts, Bald Knob, Benson and Peak's Mill received, in 1886, $16,000 in the way of improvement and this thought so disturbs the equanimity of the gentleman's "calm thoughts" that he exclaims with injured innocence "why object to our using $150,000 of the public money?"

The three precincts mentioned are fifty years old, and have been paying their proportion of public dues in all that time. For fifty years they existed without turnpikes and without public improvements of any kind, while other portions of the county were being developed, absorbing all the public funds. All appeals for help in these precincts were utterly ignored until all the best portions were aided all they wanted.

Then some one in Frankfort began to realize the great value of the hilly country and turnpikes were built reaching out into them, and these pikes, although not one of them is completed, have brought to the trade of Frankfort from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars worth of produce annually from each precinct.

Now the "advantages and benefits derived from these roads have been as great to the city of Frankfort as to the districts through which they run. We all feel and know their value and would not be deprived of them by any means. But if the business men of Frankfort want $150,000 of the public money every time we are allowed a pike, by all means we will do without the pike.

Mr. M. says "we pay three-fifths of the tax of the county." Directly they do, indirectly they do not. Did not the farmers of the county, by their labor and sweat, support the trade of Frankfort the merchants would not be able to pay any tax.

The merchant, as a middle-man, is a non-producer. He is a convenience but not a necessity.

Non-producers pay no tax of themselves, only as they receive it from others.

The farmer is compelled to trade with a merchant and allow him a sufficient profit to meet the wants of himself and family and pay his taxes, while he must pay his tax from what is left after deducting merchant's profits.

So take away Benson, Bald Knob, Peak's Mill and the other precincts that cast their vote against the railroad, Frankfort would cease to pay tax or be a city.

We think it utterly useless to cast any bitter reflection upon Frankfort for her part in the work of the 6th of July. Nor do we do so now. The unjust aspersion heaped upon us, because of our opposition to the railroad, the indecent fling made by some for our lack of educational facilities, and this last attack upon us for our poverty asks a hearing at your hands.

Mr. M. thought the railroad cause so righteous that he does not hesitate to tell us in the columns of the ROUNDABOUT, that he used his money to corrupt those who would not heed his specious arguments. He told us if we did not vote for the road he would move his mill from Frankfort, and the large vote against the road had in view the idea that if the railroad failed Miles would go, and all hoped the road would fail.

So we think he is not the one to vilify or condemn us for any part taken by us in the matter. The very men he condemns are the men who have made him what he is.

NO SPECULATION, But a Safe Investment.

"Our doubts are traitors,
And make us lose the good we oft might win,
By fearing to attempt."

We often hear the lamentations of those who visited St. Paul six years ago and failed to invest, because they thought it would not grow much more. But stronger still will be the vain regrets of those who have a little money now, and fail to invest it here, because they have been so unfortunate as not to see St. Paul. The country is just beginning to realize what St. Paul has done in late years, and what a future it has before it. There is no city in the Union with its size, business and future prospects, where property is near as cheap.

The following comparative statement of real estate values, obtained from leading conservative agencies in the respective cities, during April, 1887, speaks for itself:

	Population.	Highest Price per front Foot. Business Property.	Residence.	Highest Adjoining Acreage per acre.
Chicago	750,000	$6,000	$700	$7,000
Buffalo	240,000	3,000	350	2,000
Cleveland	227,000	3,500	500	1,500
Milwaukee	165,000	1,500	200	3,000
Detroit	155,000	2,000	300	3,000
Minneapolis	140,000	2,000	300	3,500
St. Paul	140,000	1,200	300	2,000
Kansas City	105,000	3,500	300	5,000
Indianapolis	90,000	800	150	300
Omaha	78,000	1,200	150	5,000
Toledo	50,000	1,100	100	1,000
Duluth	20,000	1,000	100	1,500

The "Twin Cities," St. Paul and Minneapolis are only ten miles apart from centre to centre; have only about five miles of a partly vacant space between them, and have a common corporation line between them therein. These cities, which in 1880 had only 41,000 and 46,000 inhabitants respectively, have now 140,000, possibly nearer 150,000 each, and the tide of immigration is pouring in faster than ever. Considerably more than one-third of the immigration of this country finds a home in the territory immediately tributary to

ST. PAUL'S IMMENSE TRADE.

Nineteen railroads run into the city, ten of these being big trunk lines, making it

The Third Railroad Centre in the United States.

The completion this year of the Minneapolis, Sault Ste Marie and Atlantic Road will give it direct communication with New York, independent of Chicago, and will put it one hundred miles nearer the Atlantic coast.

At the head of Navigation on the Mississippi.

And only one hundred miles from Lake Superior, it can laugh at the terrors of the Inter-State Commerce Law. The rich country all around is filling up more and more, and new railroads are springing into existence with wonderful rapidity, making still larger fields for its already immense wholesale trade. Its great manufactures are daily increasing, and it is rapidly becoming the centre of the STOCK-YARD AND PACKING INDUSTRIES.

There are more millionaires here than in any city of twice its size on the Continent. All the causes that have for the last five years operated to make St. Paul a great city, are working more strongly than ever, and, being in the centre of the richest and most rapidly developing part of the United States, St. Paul and Minneapolis

WILL SOON BE ONE IMMENSE CITY.

"By every argument that can be drawn from the past, by every present material condition, by the certain promise of the city's situation and surroundings, by every proof which has been tried in the experience of city growth, St. Paul feels assured that the era of prosperity now upon the city is to witness changes more astounding and more satisfying than those which have already made it the wonder and admiration of all, whose good fortune it has been to visit the city and in a measure become acquainted with her institutions."

We cannot indulge in the exultant joy expressed by some over the success of the railroad question. We are satisfied if the people could have had a free and fair discussion of the matter it would not have carried. A matter that is pushed as was this can only result in harm. Those who are so exuberant now will repent as the "days are going by."

Mr. Miles' letters in the ROUNDABOUT have not the tendency to soothe the aroused feelings of the people that the author intended they should have. They abound too much in misrepresentation and concealed malice to have the desired effect. His last letter was an insult to the intelligence of the county.

"Novis."

The Water Company.

Editor Roundabout:

The Argus cannot see why the City Council should take measures to require the Water Company to keep its mains in order.

The Argus fails to perceive that since its organization the Water Company has treated the people of Frankfort as totally unworthy of consideration. In their service, the customer has been looked upon as little better than a thief. Whilst the Water Company has repeatedly failed to comply with its obligations, the slightest dereliction on the part of the consumer has been rigidly treated and the crank turned down on him.

This policy is not only contrary to the moral obligations of the Water Company and the legal spirit of its contract, but is repugnant to every sound business principle and to a well merited success.

Bald Knob.

Noel Lee made a flying trip to Bridgeport last Sunday.

The vote polled here Monday was 140 for Scott, 45 for Morris.

Some of the Stoney Creek boys got left too. "Turn about is fair play."

Mr. Sylvester Hulett, of Stoney Creek, has been employed to teach our school.

The picnic last Saturday was quite an enjoyable affair. The speaking, by the good, solid Democrats was sentimental, and caused a warming up of all the old "Rebs."

The election passed off quietly Monday, there being no whisky or money used. After this, "dear office-seekers," never use any whisky, and I will say that things will go smooth.

John E. Miles was out here last week mingling with the paupers. When he hears Bald Knob's views, in reply to his letter, probably he may have some axes to grind then and not so much wheat.

Dr. Robinson is kept very busy, both day and night, attending to his patients. By being attentive and successful, he has won the approbation of a host of friends. We wish him success and prosperity.

Wm. Minor was tried for a breach of the peace before Esq. R. E. Gaines on Tuesday last. The defendant was a colored boy about 12 years of age, and was indicted by the last grand jury for the offense charged. Upon the trial not a particle of evidence was produced to show that the boy was guilty of any offense, and he was discharged. Boys of this age should be punished by their parents for unlawful acts.—Argus.

Among the Colored Citizens.

BY PEPPER POD.

Mrs. J. W. Frazier, of Midway, and her sister were in the city Wednesday and attended the Literary meeting.

Something did drop last Monday as predicted, but it was the Democratic majority. If counted fair it would all drop off.

Miss Lizzie Butcher is meeting with success teaching school at Farmdale, Ky.

The Literary meeting at the A. M. E. Church, Wednesday evening, was the most interesting meeting held this season.

Mr. Ed. Patterson and Miss Lizzie Payne were united in holy wedlock, on Sunday evening, at the residence of the bride, by Rev. G. H. Burks.

Last Saturday night was an unlucky night with a great many of the toughs and their pals, for they fought, they cried, they tried, they lied, but unfortunately none of them died.

The returns are not all in yet. We do not know what Mr. Bradley's majority will be, but, as stated above, with a fair count, Hon. W. O. Bradley will drop into the Governor's seat of Kentucky.

H. Thornton, the peddler husband, who was kidnapped by another woman and carried away from his wife last fall, has returned at last. Wonder if he got shoes, ring, robe and repentant kisses.

Revs. D. W. Culp, J. W. Frazier, N. Singleton, and W. H. Crowder were in the city this week attending the District Missionary Meeting of First P. E. District of Kentucky Annual Conference of A. M. E. Church.

Revs. Evans, Mitchell and Burks' members commune together, for I have seen them around the corner at Burkhardt's, and other church members of the same faith, and drink together. So I will not say any thing to hurt their feelings, for they have said already that Burks talks too plain and Pepper Pod is too smart.

We might say a few words about whisky drinkers, but some of the half-hearted, high toned, free-communion Methodist and Baptist Church members say we had better let it alone; that it is the King's business, and, if I meddle with it, I will have to leave this city between two suns, for they say that the City Council is in favor of keeping saloons open on Sundays. Well, if we have to leave, we intend for some body to miss us. Just let things run on, and in the near future something will drop in this city harder than it did last Monday. O! ye city dads, except your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of your fathers, ye shall likewise go out of office.

Hurrah for W. O. Bradley.

FRANKFORT, KY., Aug. 4, '87.

To the Colored People of Frankfort:

In one of the ROUNDABOUTS I saw that the prize given July 4th was won by Agnes Norman. I mean to dispute that. The watch was won by me; but I did not get it, and I will state my reason. Polly Smith was so kind and roguish as to take the box she had, contesting for the watch, and gave it to Aggie Norman without my knowing it. If I had of known that I had to run against two, I would have known what to have done. I myself had $25.25, and both of their boxes put together only had $4 more. If I wanted a watch over so bad, I don't think I would cheat for it. Camp Douglas No. 3 have promised me a watch as soon as Mr. James Woolfolk arrives at home, but I think I have had the patience of Job, since the 4th of July, with several disappointments.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, AUGUST 6, 1887.

One of the most daring and skillfully managed attempts to defraud that we have heard of lately occurred in our community last week.

It appears that one P. D. Richie, of Crawford county, Mo., some two months since wrote to Col. R. P. Pepper for a catalogue of his trotting stock, representing himself as a horse man. A correspondence ensued which finally terminated by Richie putting in an appearance, last week, accompanied by letters of credit from the Steelesville, Missouri, National Bank, representing Richie as a well-to-do farmer owning 350 acres of land worth $50 per acre, unencumbered, as well as other property, and good at any time for $25,000 to $35,000. He also brought letters from the clerks of the courts of Crawford county confirmatory of the letters of the bank officers. Upon the faith of these letters, and after a thorough and critical examination of the stock, Richie purchased from Col. Pepper $7,000 worth of trotters, shipping them on Wednesday, July 27, and executed paper to be negotiated through the banks for the same.

Upon information obtained by the banks, on Friday night or Saturday morning, it was learned that all of Richie's letters of credit were forgeries, as well as those from the county officers.

Col. Pepper took the 2 o'clock train Saturday evening, followed Richie to Missouri and captured him near Steelesville and lodged him in jail on Sunday evening.

Recovering his horses Col. Pepper brought them home with him.

Taken altogether this is one of the most skillfully worked schemes we have heard of lately, and the best evidence of the fact is that it took in so shrewd and wide-awake a man and stock-dealer as Col. Pepper. We congratulate the Colonel upon regaining his horses and capturing the thief.

Judge Wm. Lindsay has been engaged this week in a canvas of Bourbon county in favor of the P., G. and F. railroad, he evote upon the subscription to which is to be taken to-day.

Judge Lindsay has been ably seconded by Capt. Thomas and other prominent gentlemen of that county. We are convinced that, if the people of Bourbon have turned out to hear the speeches of Judge Lindsay, there will be no doubt of the success of the proposition. He states his proposition so clearly and plainly that it carries conviction and conversion to the most unwilling mind. Here's hoping that she may be triumphantly successful.

Quite a sensation was created on our streets, on Saturday evening, by a traveling band of boy musicians. Though only five in number, they made some very fine music, and the little fellow who played the tuber was especially remarked as a fine performer. They furnished the music for the speaking on Saturday night and also for the excursion on Sunday evening.

Mr. William Cromwell, Miss Belle Giltner, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Lewis were out riding Sunday evening, and when turning around on the Louisville pike the horse became frightened and overturned the surrey in which they were riding. Miss Giltner had her right arm and side badly bruised and Mrs. Lewis was slightly bruised on the face and right shoulder. Mr. Lewis was thrown forward and fell flat of his back in front of the horse, but by some lively walking on his elbows escaped with several severe wounds in the back of his coat, and the skin off his arms. Mr. Cromwell, who was driving, escaped with a few scratches, was the first on his feet, and had he not kept fast hold of the lines all parties would have been seriously injured. We desire to return thanks to Willie Green, carriage driver for Col. L. P. Tarlton, and George Mason for timely assistance rendered.

Mrs. Lella Bush Tevis, wife of Hon. W. T. Tevis, of Richmond, Ky., well known in this community as the beautiful and accomplished Miss Lella Bush, niece of Judge W. P. D. Bush, died at the home of her husband on Tuesday morning last, of flux. It will be remembered by our readers that Mr. Tevis was the Representative from Madison county in the last Legislature. It was in this city that he met Miss Bush and was captivated by her beauty and accomplishments. A few months after the adjournment of the Legislature they were married, at the home of Miss Bush, in Elizabethtown.

Mrs. Tevis left an infant but a few weeks old.

How soon and how sadly the bright hopes and dreams of life are shattered. God comfort the stricken ones. Judge Bush and his wife left for Richmond on the 10:20 train Tuesday morning.

For the first time in many years the election, which was held on Monday, was a clean one. The absence of boodles was made conspicuous early in the action. Both parties resolved that they would not engage in the disgraceful business. The consequence was the boodlers, blood suckers and leeches were dumfounded. There was not a single disturbance of any kind. And the unusual fact that but very little drinking was indulged in was a source of congratulation on all hands. We believe this was the result, directly and indirectly, of the era of good feeling brought about by the unanimous action of our people on the railroad question.

During the month of July just passed there have been nine days in which the thermometer varied from 80° to 90°; there were nineteen days in which the mercury varied from 90° to 100°; and three days in which the showing was from 100° to 103.2°. The highest temperature reached was 103.2° on the 18th, and the lowest was 56.8° on the 11th. The rainfall reached the rather phenomenal point of 3.15 inches, and yet we have had what is called a dry July.

As Mr. Hugh Burns was coming to town from Harp, Tuesday morning, in a spring wagon, his horse took fright and ran away, throwing him out, spraining his right ankle and tearing the wagon to pieces.

On Monday night, the 8th, will be presented at the Opera House the old but beautiful historic play of Damon and Pythias.

This play will be put on the stage by the young men of Dexter Lodge, No. 54, Knights of Pythias, of this city, assisted by Mr. E. S. Laurie and wife and Miss Lizzie Davis. The play will be given for the benefit of the Lodge of this city which is a young one, and made up of some of the best young men of the city. They have been giving the rehearsals their undivided attention, and all who go (and we bespeak a good house for them) will be amply repaid.

Cast of characters:
Damon, E. S. Laurie.
Pythias, Walker Peters.
Dionysius, John Milam.
Procles, Lee A. Owen.
Phyllistius, Henry Ware.
Damocles, Will Saffell.
Lucullus, Walter Franklin.
Hermion, Mrs. Laurie.
Calanthie, Miss Lizzie Davis.
Senators and soldiers, represented by the Knights of Pythias.
Tickets, 50 cents; balcony, 35 cents; gallery, 25 cents.

Col. J. Stoddard Johnson has a grim satisfaction in knowing that, when he was Chairman of the Democratic Central and Executive Committees, the appeal was to the brains of the people and the party was triumphantly successful. Now that the appeal has been made to the stomach, by the big barbecues and lots of soup, the result is eminently unsatisfactory to the party. Vive la biatus.

How about that cold wave that was coming?

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, AUGUST 6, 1887.

Smoke the White Wing Cigar, at LeCompte & Carpenter's. 37-6m

Attention is called to the advertisement of Dr. W. Lee Crutcher offering a farm for sale.

Mr. E. J. Roberts has purchased a lot from Mr. Mike Buttner, in Bellepoint, and on Monday commenced the erection of a neat cottage upon it.

There was a very perceptible shock of earthquake in this city on Tuesday morning between 1:30 and 2 o'clock. It shook things pretty lively for a second or so.

The election surprises came, as we predicted in our last paper. There are several would-be statesmen who wonder what struck them.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Mastin Bros. in this issue. They have a fine stock of farmers' supplies of all kinds. They are clever and reliable young men, and should be liberally patronized.

Judge R. E. Gaines was granted a patent, by the proper government officials in Washington, on Tuesday, for a steam pressure regulator. Here's to the Judge, and may he make a fortune out of his invention.

It is said by some of the disgusted Democrats that Judge Steve Sharp was so busy trying to carry Fayette county that he forgot there were any other counties in the State to look after. Hence these tears.

Capt. Abrahams says that the excursion down the river last Sunday evening should have been advertised as twelve miles, in place of twenty, as in the bills. The enjoyment of those on board was enough in the twelve miles and so no one has any right to complain.

A number of the elite young people of our city enjoyed a moonlight picnic, near the residence of Mrs. L. P. Tarlton, on Monday evening. It was given in honor of Miss Ida Rankin, of Louisville, who is visiting Miss Laura Theobald in this city. It was a grand success.

The steamer Grace Morris, and barge Annie, had a tremendous crowd on board on the excursion twelve miles down the river, on Sunday evening. She returned to town shortly after 7 o'clock, p. m. There was good music on board and all who went enjoyed it immensely.

Major Chas. C. Furr and Capt. T. J. Todd are now full-fledged members of the Kingfisher Club and left for their annual fish and camp on the lakes last Friday night. Judge S. R. Smith, the other member in this city, was detained at home by sickness in his family, whereat ye Club mourneth and refuseth to be comforted.

The large grain elevator of Messrs Graddy & Son, at Versailles, fell last Saturday night, at 8:30 o'clock, and 80,000 bushels of wheat and other grain was buried in the ruins. We are glad to learn that most, if not all, the grain will be saved. The elevator was new and cost $10,000 last year.

The Franklin Association of United Baptists will meet at the Pleasant Ridge Church, in this county, on Tuesday, August 23. It is hoped that the churches will have their statistics in better and more complete shape than ever before.

We are indebted to our friends Kirtley & Hughes for a large and delicious watermelon. These gentlemen keep always on hand the freshest and best vegetables to be had. Call on them at Waggoner's old stand, 324 Broadway street.

Mr. Albert H. Crutcher, formerly of Bellepoint but now of Los Angeles, California, and Miss O. Walton Henderson, daughter of Rev. H. A. M. Henderson, D. D., will be married at the residence of the bride's parents, in New York City, on Tuesday next. The many friends in this city of the happy young couple extend their heartiest congratulations. They will make their home on the Pacific slope.

The following is the score of Spring Hill Gun Club, on Friday afternoon, July 29th. Targets 25 Knoxville blackbirds, 18 yards rise:

K. Taylor 16 G. F. Berry . . . 20
J. L. Price 18 R. P. Pepper, Jr. 21
L. Cox 8 R. Morris . . . 18
G. L. Payne 16 J. N. Abrams . . 16
G. Mastin 16 Thos. Church . 15
Mr. R. P. Pepper, jr., won the medal.

The match rifle shoot between Col. R. P. Pepper and Mr. Hiram Berry was a stand off.

The gas well being sunk by the Frankfort Heating Company is progressing finely, and is going down at the rate of from fifty to sixty feet a day. The drill is kept going night and day, and the rock penetrated so far is the bird's-eye limestone or river, marble. The gentlemen who have the contract are old experienced men in the business, and have a number of contracts for sinking wells in different portions of the State.

We are gratified to learn as we do from a letter from that place, that our old friend and a former citizen of this city, Mr. James W. Conner, has been elected Mayor of the new and thriving young city of Winfield, Kansas. We are also glad to learn that our friend has been very prosperous in business since he went west and has accumulated quite a comfortable fortune. We congratulate Winfield upon having Jim Conner as her Mayor and congratulate him upon this evidence of the esteem in which he is held in his new home.

The Frankfort Literary Society has appointed a standing Committee on Programme with authority to invite lecturers, speakers, writers, poets, singers and artists to contribute a portion of the products of their genius to the programme of each monthly meeting of the society for the general good. John L. Scott, Ira Julian, W. C. Herndon and Dr. Sam E. James compose the committee. Such literary persons, either in or out of Frankfort, as take pleasure in aiding this society in the general diffusion of scientific and literary culture, are respectfully requested to confer with some member of this committee on the subject. The programme for the meeting on the 18th of this month will be completed by the last of next week.

The heat of the evenings this week has been something almost unbearable, and it is as a rich treat to be able to leave the sweltering atmosphere of the city and speed away on the sparkling water, with a stiff breeze fanning the fevered face. A large number of our best people have taken advantage of the opportunity offered by the excursions run by the officers of the steamer Grace Morris, with her palace barge "Annie." Thursday evening the crowd was larger than ever and was enjoyed by all on board from the beginning to the end of the trip.

The Frankfort String Band furnished the music, and the young people engaged joyfully in the graceful dances so popular in this day.

The officers of the Morris spare no pains to make the excursion enjoyable to all. If you have never been on one of these trips, try one, and it will not be necessary to urge you to try the second.

Hon. F. B. Thompson was defeated for the Legislature in Mercer county by D. J. Curry, a Prohibitionist. His majority was 221.

Pea Ridge.

Our new turnpike is being fenced.

Our school opened last Monday with nearly thirty scholars.

Hot and dry. People, stock and vegetation needing rain.

There was an election last Monday. It would be a great convenience if our citizens could vote in Frankfort instead of Bridgeport. So much nearer and a good road.

The S. A. officers, accompanied by Miss Merchant, were the guests of Mrs. Will Dennis last Monday, the occasion being the farewell visit of Lieutenant Alice previous to her departure West.

Mr. Willis Wayts, of Frankfort, visited the Ridge last Sunday and, by request, took charge of the Sunday-school. His explanation and illustration of the lesson were attentively listened to, and every one present expressed a wish that he would soon come again. He will preach for us at the school-house on the fourth Sunday in August, at 11 o'clock, a. m.

Several of our citizens have complained to the Ridge scribe that a report is in circulation that there was some trouble at our Sunday-school picnic a few weeks ago. Just as soon as the report can be traced to a definite source, it will be promptly squelched, and the reporter with it.

Success has made John E. Miles bolder. He has actually directed his pen against the city's hogs. Bewarned in time, John, let them alone. Interfering with hogs is not a simple matter, like advocating a railroad. People would rather do without four than with out hogs. They are faithful, tireless scavengers, and keep the city clear of thousands of bushels of decaying vegetable refuse, make no charge for their services, and, in fact, they work for nothing and board themselves.

When the Pea Ridge corps pondent went to Bridgeport to vote he had the pleasure of meeting the B. correspondent, and several other citizens, who inquired very kindly about the welfare of Mr. H. Wilson, of Alabama, and expressed a wish to bring about a meeting between him and his old comrade, Zeke Yocum. Mr. Wilson seems to have made a great many friends among our people, and as he has written another letter to the Ridge correspondent, it will, with the editor's permission, be laid before the ROUNDABOUT's readers. It can easily be told, by reading Mr. Wilson's letter, that there never were two men more devoted to each other, and that the Southern Confederacy never had two braver soldiers than Zeke Yocum and Henry Wilson, of the 13th Alabama Infantry.

CLAYHATCHIE,
COFFEE CO., ALA.)

Dear Friend:

I have just returned from the regular weekly meeting of our society, "Camp Beauregard, of Confederate Veterans," and, although this is our regular election night, nothing was done, for two of our comrades have just come from the north, quite delighted with their visit and the treatment they received at Gettysburg.

They had so much to tell that we had to close the meeting to listen to them. Hancock, Meade, Philadelphia brigade seemed to be the subject of their conversation. What made our fellows so delighted was that they had captured a prisoner at Gettysburg, one of the famous Philadelphia brigade, and had brought him home with them. They had got his parole, just outside the door, and wished for permission to bring him into camp. Of course the request was at once complied with, and the northern stranger was brought in and introduced by Carroll King—Zeke knows him, he was the fellow who killed the big Yank at Chickasaw bayou, who had just killed our colored sergeant. He was the fourth man in the company's line. Zeke was first, then Johnson, then myself, then Carroll—but, if you can see Zeke, he will give you a full account of the battle.

Introducing his prisoner, Carroll explained that they would have come home before, but that the prisoner flatly refused to come until they had paid a visit to his home in Bucks county, but that we had him now, and it was for us to determine what to do with him.

The introduction over, our prisoner, a fine looking fellow (whose name will not be given because of his extreme modesty), said:

"Gentlemen—I am very glad to meet you all. I don't feel a bit afraid, although surrounded by an overwhelming number of Confederates, neither do I feel like a stranger, for I have been in Confederate camps several times, and have been taken prisoner by them twice before. My body only was captured then, but now I feel like I had been captured body and soul."

I can't write all that was said and done, neither can I tell all about how Collins recognized our prisoner as the man who shot the leather front piece off his cap on skirmish line at the second day's fight, nor yet about the fuss raised who should take charge of him first. I may tell you, afterwards. Meanwhile hunting, fishing, boating on the lake, camp dinners, fish fries, excursions to other camps is the word. If all our comrades keep their word, and don't keep him more than a week, our prisoner will be an old man by the time we have each had him and carried him through sixteen counties.

I feel annoyed for writing so much, but your letter asking about the Richmond fight must be answered. I was there and assisted to drive the Yank's out of the country. So was Zeke. He was with me all day and did not mind the fighting, but he did despise the long, weary, dusty march to Lexington. Zeke was a good forager. He showed that on the way to Lexington, Frankfort and Louisville. Though I don't like to bring up any thing against a comrade, after so many years, still I must say, that, though I shared and enjoyed a great number of things that Zeke provided, I can not approve of the mode by which they came into his hands. Eight miles east of Frankfort, Zeke found seven pies in tin pans, and a large baking pan of biscuits. Further along the road he found a ham already boiled and sliced. Zeke was a valuable comrade, either in camp, on the march, or in battle, and I am sorry to see that he has formally withdrawn from the Democratic party.

At a place I was told was called Julian's woods, about four miles from Frankfort, we camped for the night, and a very pleasant time we had, tired as we were, for Zeke, with just, song and story, kept us all alive.

Just a little after dusk some fellow with a dirty, dusty Yankee uniform on, rode along and was halted by our pickets, and all they could get out of him was an invitation to go to the devil. Some were in favor of letting him go, but, when he was asked what regiment he belonged to, he said the 9th Kentucky Cavalry and that he had dispatches for the Colonel. We had some of the 8th Kentucky along with us, and some of them came to see if they knew him. One of them asked him what his Colonel's name was, when he promptly answered Dick Jacobs. That settled him. He was invited to postpone his journey and take supper with us, and we promised to catch up with Dick Jacobs and deliver the dispatches in the morning. When we got him to our camp, the boys were singing and Zeke had just finished "The last tattoo is beating, boys. Our pickets are retreating, boys," &c.

Our prisoner went up and shook hands with Zeke and said, "let us sing our old favorite sea song that we used to sing together down in Mercer county," and they did sing it well. I have no record of that night, but trust to memory I think the song ran as follows:

"A jolly comrade in a fort, a fearless mate at sea,
If I forget thee, false to my hand may my cassid be,
And may my gallant battle-flag be stricken down in shame,
If, when the social can goes round, I fail
to pledge his name,
Up, up, my lads, his memory we'll give it with a cheer."

Ned Bolton, the commander of the Black Snake Privateer.

Several other songs we sung and a fiddle was brought out. Our prisoner being a first-class performer, we passed a night both short and merry.

If you are acquainted with Col. Dick Jacobs, give him my thanks for the use of his fiddler, and I hope he suffered no ill convenience through his dispatches being detained. As Zeke knew the prisoner better than we did, we left him in Zeke's care. The next morning, going through to Hardinsville, the prisoner concluded to visit kinsfolks near by, and promised to catch up with us in Shelbyville. As he never came back to us, I was afraid something had happened to him. I saw him a few weeks later, when we were driven back. He can have that bullet he gave me if he will call for it.

I always took an interest in Kentuckians, and I would like to know what became of a fine looking, tall, heavy-set Falstaff-kind of an officer. The Kentuckians in our command called him Col. Bob. I forget his other name. He commanded a Kentucky regiment, and brought dispatches for Gen. Kirby Smith. Soon after, in a skirmish, we got orders to lay down to escape the enemy's fire, and it looked like nothing short of a miracle could save the Colonel, for he was certainly bigger laying down than standing up. As the bullets were spitting around, Zeke said, "how do you feel, Col. Bob?"

"Bigger than a horse, sir; bigger than a horse." Every fight we got into I thought Bob would be killed, but he went clear through the war without a scratch. I have been told that an officer, answering his description, was a candidate for County Judge somewhere in central Kentucky, soon after the war was closed, whose name was Col. Bob. He was a good fighter, but a confounded poor speaker, and during the campaign his radical opponent had all the fun he wanted. One night a large crowd gathered at the Court-house to hear them. Bob spoke first, then his opponent, who was as sharp as a tack, just tore him all to pieces, and things looked bad for Col. Bob. But he got up for a fifteen minute reply, "and when he got up his audience got up with him," and, as he went on with his opening remarks, they went on to the open door. An ardent admirer of Bob's just then jerked his coat tail and said, "why in the devil don't you tell 'em you was in the rebel army?"

"They all know it," said Bob. "Tell 'em again," said his friend. "That's just like humbug," said Bob. "That's just what they are all here for. Go ahead; give 'em rebel army. You don't know a thing about either law or politics." So Bob commenced:

"Ladies and gentlemen:—Only a few years ago I wore a suit of gray and carried a musket under Gen. Lee, and when he sent Stonewall Jackson to flank Hooker at Chancellorsville, and"

No matter what he said, his opponent was beat, and every election since then Col. Bob makes a kettle of soup, invites the boys, and tells them that he was in the rebel army. Though years have passed, that speech has never failed to elect him, and never will while Col. Bob lives and his comrades remember that he was in the rebel army, and history records the fact that Stonewall Jackson flanked Hooker at Chancellorsville.

A Generous and Extensive Loan.

An earnest Christian lady makes the following offer to our readers: "I will loan a free of postal and all charges to such of your readers as will promise a careful reading and to pay return postage after reading it, a book which, in interesting style, shows the Bible to be a self-interpret, and its teachings grandly harmonious, viewed in the light of sanctified reason and common sense."

"I want to put this book into the hands of all the skeptically inclined, as an aid and guard against the growing scientific skepticism. It is not dry, musty reading, but truly 'meat in due season, to the truth-hungry. The light of this precious little volume has made the Bible a new book, a treasure, a mine of wealth, to many as well as to myself. And I feel that I cannot better use my means than in circulating this work by the thousand." Address postal card to

A Nameless Case.

My case has been a very curious one for about thirteen years. At intervals of about one week I would be attacked with spells of severe and most excruciating pain, as well as commencing in the region of my kidneys. The pain would then go upward and affect my body and head, and seemed to penetrate my very eye-balls, creating the most intense suffering, lasting about eight hours each spell.

I resorted to all kinds of medicine without benefit. Several doctors treated my case, but none gave relief. I finally used Dr. B. B. as an experiment, and to my utter astonishment all pain and suffering vanished after using three doses. To the present time I have used three bottles, and not a pain has ever returned. I do not know what was the matter, neither could my physician name the complaint. The B. B. acted finely and powerfully upon my kidneys; my appetite has been splendid and my constitution built up rapidly.

R. THOMAS,
Constitution, Ga., May 6, 1886.

Unimpaired Integrity.

I am 55. Broke down twelve years ago, and have not been able to work since. Have lost proper action of my hips and legs. For five years scrofulous sores have appeared on my scalp and nose, and at same time my eyesight began to fail, and for three years have been comparatively blind. Have been treated by eminent physicians of different schools without a cure. I have taken five bottles of B. B. (made at Atlanta, Ga.), and all scrofulous sores are gradually healing. Inflammation about my eyes has disappeared and there is some improvement in my vision. Am very much benefited and relieved and begin to feel like a boy again—feel good. My strength and activity are returning in my legs and hips. The B. B. acts vigorously upon my kidneys, and the great quantity of matter that has been forced out through the skin is utterly incredible, often so offensive in odor as to produce nausea. I refer to all business men of LaGrange, Ga.

CONSTIPATION

Is called the "Father of Diseases," because there is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by the absorption of poisonous gases in the retention of decayed and effete matter in the stomach and bowels. It is caused by a Torpid Liver, not enough bile secreted from the blood to produce Nature's own emollient, and is generally accompanied with such results as

Loss of Appetite,
Sick Headache,
Bad Breath, etc.

The treatment of Constipation does not consist merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic well, and not produce after its use greater constiveness. To secure a regular habit of body without changing the diet or reorganizing the system

"My attention, after suffering with Constipation for two or three years, was called to Simmons' Liver Regulator, and, having tried almost everything else, concluded to try it. I was successful, and after using the dose to a teaspoonful, as per directions, after each meal, I continued it until I took two bottles. Since then I have not experienced any difficulty. I keep it in my house and would not be without it, but have no use for it, it having cured me. Geo. W. Stray, Ass't Clerk Superior Court, Bibb Co., Ga.

Will our friends of the Shelby News kindly re-read our article on Sam. Jones? It certainly did not understand us, or we were very unfortunate in our expressions, if it is understood that we defended Mr. Jones in every thing. Our aim was simply to state what Mr. Jones did say and not what he was represented to have said.

We, at the same time, entered our protest against the manner in which the Courier-Journal is being made the sewer for all the filth in the country, and entreated the great daily to make itself a clean sheet, and not follow the Cincinnati Enquirer into the slums of nastiness.

Bourbon county votes to-day on the proposition to subscribe $250,000 to the capital stock of the Paris, Georgetown & Frankfort Railroad. The Kentucky Central Railroad having entered the fight, will use money to defeat the proposition, and grave fears are entertained as to the result. Judge Wm. Lindsay has been in Paris since Tuesday, and Esq. Pat. McDonald went up Thursday morning. A large torch light procession marched through the streets of Paris last night, and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested for the road by the citizens.

We are authorized by the Board of School Trustees to say that if a sufficient number of pupils will make it known to them that they will attend a night school, they will employ a competent teacher, and have the school taught during the next scholastic year. Now is your chance, boys, you who have to work in day time to get a start on the road to an education. Go and make yourselves known to the school trustees, and they will receive and treat you kindly.

Our neighbors over the border have within a very few years organized and equipped a large military force, and the militia includes all dwellers in the Dominion capable of bearing arms. The particulars will be presented by J. MacDonald Oxley in the September number of The American Magazine. To most readers this account of the strength and efficiency of the military system of Canada will be a surprise.

Mr. George B. Macklin has erected near the bridge in this city, a signal pole to carry flags, showing the changes in the weather as they occur. Mr. Macklin has erected this pole at own expense, and it will be of great value to our people. The pole is about 60 feet high, and contains a weather vane on top.

To-day is the day for the election in Bourbon county on our railroad subscription. We hope and believe that it will carry triumphantly. Judge Lindsay, Capt. Thomas and others have been hard at work this week, and are confident of success.

The Elkhorn Association of United Baptists will meet with the church at Versailles, Woodford County, on Tuesday, Aug. 16. This is one of the largest and wealthiest Associations in the State and has an unusually able ministry generally.

Should you want a nice Surrey, Buggy, Saddle or set of Harness, see Mastin Bros. 47-3t.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Mary J. Holder, widow of the late Thomas J. Holder, is lying very ill at her home, near Switzer this county.

Col. Ed. C. Went reports the following as the temperature of the past week: August 1, 101.8°; August 2, 98.3°; August 3, 100°; August 4, 103°.

The south end of St. Clair street is being widened out at the bridge, the surplus dirt from the St. Clair and Main street sewer being utilized for filling up on either side.

If you have gotten excited over the returns from the election, come up and stand under our fans, which are run by water power, and get your brain cooled off. Our printers are the coolest-headed fellows in town.

The time for paying the city taxes has been extended until the 15th of this month and the books will remain in the hands of the City Treasurer until that time. If you wish to save ten per cent. on the amount of your taxes you have another week in which to do so.

Those persons who are suffering from general debility, occasioned by the unprecedented heat of the summer, should take an invigorating tonic and yet one that is not poisoned with alcohol. The American Ginger Ale is such a combination of medicinal and stimulating properties. It is prepared at the Arcadian Bottling Works, at the famous Waukesha Springs, and is for sale by Mrs. S. J. Bohannon. Try it.

Returns from the State election on Monday show a great change over former elections, up to yesterday at noon the Republican State Central Committee in Louisville had returns from 84 of the 119 counties in the State, which show a Republican gain of 27,300 over the Knott and Morrow vote of four years ago, and the election of 30 Republican Representatives in the Legislature and several Senators.

The next reunion of the 22d Regiment Kentucky Volunteer Infantry will be held at Ashland, Ky., on September 14th and 15th next. In the past these reunions have been the most pleasant of occasions, and preparations are in progress to make the coming meeting surpass any that have occurred.

The Association, which embraces all the ex-Union Soldiers of Eastern Kentucky, and of which Gen. D. W. Lindsey is the President, will be addressed by Col. R. M. Kelly on Sept. 14th, and by Col. John Mason Brown on Sept. 15th. Arrangements have been made by the citizens of Ashland to entertain all visiting ex-soldiers and for reduced railroad fares.

The exercises will be held in the beautiful grove in the Fair Grounds at Ashland, where the old 22d Regiment pitched its first camp on its march to join Gen. Garfield in his campaigns up the Sandy river. The surviving members of that regiment in this vicinity and in the city of Louisville should not fail to avail themselves of this opportunity of meeting their old comrades of Eastern Kentucky and of revisiting the scene of their early campaigning.

Notice.
FRANKFORT, KY., Aug. 5, '87.
The citizens of Frankfort are respectfully requested to meet at the Court House on the evening of Monday next, August 8th, at 3 o'clock, with a view of arranging a fitting programme of ceremony on the conclusion of Governor Knott's term of office and the inauguration of his successor, General Buckner, the Governor elect.

"Is it hot"—Oh, yes, yes! 400,000 fellows have been in and told us about it already.

Officer Henry Brown and family were summoned to Lexington yesterday morning by the dangerous illness of his daughter, Mrs. Ella Thompson, who is lying at the point of death with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Jennie Shelton, of St. Louis, Mo., died yesterday afternoon of consumption, at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. D. C. Barrett, in South Frankfort. She arrived in this city Thursday afternoon, having come with the hope that a change of climate would be beneficial, but the journey and extremely hot weather was too much for her strength, and she sank gradually until death came to relieve her of suffering.

Two men by the name of Gardner and two by the name of Baker got into a row at Spring Hill, Thursday afternoon, in which the Gardners were pretty roughly handled, Ben Gardner being struck on the back of the head with a rock and his son getting pretty badly cut on the head.

The parties were all tried before Esq. Gaines, on Thursday, and acquitted.

A dispatch from Georgetown brings the news that Tice Hall, a young man well known in this community was shot and killed by Eugene Fitzgerald, on Thursday evening. Fitzgerald shot Hall five times and he died at 8:40 o'clock in the evening. It will be remembered that Hall is the young man with whom Victor McManama had a serious difficulty some year or so ago. No cause is known for the murder.

"McAltee Roy told Aleck McCoy, That Boliver Buckner had said, That old man Tooley told Aleck McGruley."

That Billy O'Bradley was dead." It appears that Billy O'Bradley is alive and still kicking and has given the old Commonwealth of Kentucky such a kick the like of which she has not received for 25 years. O! my how a dead man can kick when the people take a hand.

The Kentucky Central Railroad will run an excursion from all points on its roads to Niagara Falls on the 23d of August. Tickets will be good only on all its regular morning trains on that day, and connection will be made with a special train at Cincinnati, consisting of elegant day coaches, reclining chair cars and palace sleepers, which will leave Cincinnati at 1 p. m. and arrive at the Falls at 7 o'clock, August 24th. Tickets will be good returning on special train to leave the Falls at 7 p. m. of the 24th or on all regular trains of the 25th. The fare for the round trip from Lexington will be only $7.75.

The Beginning of the End.
The beginning of disease is slight debility or disorder of some of the vital organs, the stomach, the liver or the bowels usually. There are dyspeptic symptoms, the liver is troublesome, the skin grows tawny and unhealthy looking, there are pains in the right side or through the right shoulder blade. The climax is often an utter prostration of the physical energies, perhaps a fatal result. But the difficulty is met in time with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is always effective as a remedy, and it should be resorted to at an early stage, there will be no reason to apprehend those injurious and dangerous effects upon the system often entailed by entirely curable disease. Far better is it, also, to employ this safe remedial agent in fever and ague, and other malarial complaints, than quinine and other potent drugs, which, even when they do prove effective for a time, ruin the stomach and impair the general health.

DISSOLUTION.

THE LUMBER FIRM OF WAKEFIELD & West at Frankfort has been dissolved, and Isaac T. West goes on to the firm of Wakefield & West. Wakefield will continue the business as heretofore, and he alone is authorized to collect debts due the firm, and will pay all its debts. In making this announcement James M. Wakefield takes this occasion to return his thanks to the public for their liberal patronage extended heretofore, and solicits a continuance of public confidence and patronage. JAMES M. WAKEFIELD. June 25-1m.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

The steamer Grace Morris and barge Annie have been kept pretty busy this week with excursions, &c. On Wednesday evening Mr. Preston Williams, of Versailles, gave a moonlight excursion from Clifton to this city, on which a large number of the beautiful belles and gallant beaux of Woodford county were passengers. A number of the older and more staid citizens were along with them as chaperones. Music and dancing coupled with all the romance of love making on the water, were the order of the evening, and all on board were charmed with the trip.

Letter from Zeke Yocum.

ON THE WING, Aug. 5, 1887.
Dear Nephew:

MISCELLANEOUS ARTICLES FROM
ZEKE YOCUM—REUBEN SERREE'S
OLD STAND.

All my old friends are gone. I did recognize a familiar face. All is as quiet as the grave here, and at the Stone Kitchen. The election passed off very quietly, old Franklin went Democratic as usual, there being about four hundred pounds of vindication issued this time. Poor Dick Morris didn't want any vindication. He did not need any, he being one of God's noblemen.

FRANKFORT.

I was told, as I passed through this place, that at a rally in Frankfort that one Julius Caesar told his hearers to vote the straight ticket, no difference if they were convict stripes, so they were Democrats. He ought to succeed Beck in the Senate. I did think the Salvation Army would do some good, in your city, but I was mistaken.

BALD KNOB.

Its reported here that the Democrat rooster died August 1st. That Simon Girty Buckner had gone to Canada. That he had never been altogether right in his mind since he met Bradley. The Central Committee is to blame for his escape.

SHELBY COUNTY.

J. J. Long is elected over Puckett. Mr. Long voted for men and money to suppress the rebellion, which was right. In a few short years he voted for Buckner, who did his best to destroy the government that Long was trying to save. Consistency was, at one time in Kentucky, a priceless jewel, but sugar will lose its sweetness.

JACKSONVILLE.

I was here August 1st. I could not but pity some of the voters, the most of whom were poor men, who were the fathers of at least fifteen children, who would walk up and vote the Democratic ticket and say they were opposed to Federal aid, at the same time not one of their children could spell "daddy" if their lives depended on it. I heard one voter say that some bald headed lawyer of Frankfort told him that there was five millions of dollars on hand, and that the State did not owe one dollar. Also one man named Scott, at the Capitol, had promised to have all of the negroes back in bondage again soon, and then he would be in favor of Federal aid to the school fund.

Its reported throughout this part of Shelby county that one Gen. Apathy was the cause of the loss in the Democrat vote. Now I confess I never heard of him before. Don't know whether he was a Federal or Confederate. My opinion is that it was not Gen. Apathy, but one Wm. O. Bradley that did the devilment. This talk about Gen. Apathy reminds me of the excuse the dog had when chasing the rabbit. You remember that the dog stopped suddenly from some cause. It was soon found out that the rabbit was rapidly gaining on the dog—his stopping as an excuse.

Since the news reached here, in regard to the vote of Kentucky, its no uncommon thing to find any quantity of under lips on the railroad ties and on the road. Said lips were hanging so low that the owners of said lips were tramped on. Its useless for me to tell you that those who lost them were Democrats. So good-bye, for this time. Gov. Knott has ordered me to the seat of war. My kind regards to the widow Lewis and children. Your uncle,

A Grateful Catarrh Sufferer.

Gentlemen:—I have been a victim of catarrh for seventeen years. The misery of those years cannot be comprehensively told to those who have never been afflicted with catarrh. During those years I tried all the physicians I had access to, and all the remedies I saw recommended for catarrh. But I got relief from none. Last year I heard of the cure of a neighbor of mine who had used S. S. S., and I therefore began to take it. I commenced last fall, and continued its use until the coldest part of the winter, when I stopped. This medicine gave me the first relief I had in seventeen years, and continued to grow better all the while I was taking the medicine, and during the cold weather when I had ceased its use. My left nostril was about closed with polypus when I began taking S. S. S., and now that is about gone, and I feel very much better than I have for years. I shall continue the medicine a few months longer, that I may entirely eradicate the disease from which I have suffered so much. My first relief came through your valuable and efficacious S. S. S.

With gratitude, I am yours truly,
W. M. FINDLEY,
Newbern, Dyer Co., Tenn.,

Dreadful Case of Boils Cured.

Gentlemen:—As far back as I can recollect I was subject to boils. They would break out every spring and off and on during the year. There are scars all over me now from virulent boils. Several years ago I took a few bottles of S. S. S., and I am now entirely free from boils and I have been ever since I finished taking your valuable blood-purifier, now several years ago. Yours truly,

R. E. WALKER.

The Babies Cry for It.

And the old folks laugh when they find that the pleasant California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is more easily taken and more beneficial in its action than bitter, nauseous medicines. It is a most valuable family remedy to act on the bowels, to cleanse the system, and to dispel colds, headaches and fevers. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, California.
